HandiWALL® vs. Standard MDF Slatwall

Comparison of overall cost, durability, and aesthetics

Cost Benefits

Shipping

The freight costs for HandiWALL® are less than MDF slatwall because HandiWALL® is substantially lighter than MDF. A 4' x 8' panel of MDF slatwall weighs between 80 and 100 lbs - the same size panel of HandiWALL® weighs 38 lbs. Therefore, the cost of shipping one panel or one pallet of HandiWALL® is significantly less than the cost of standard MDF Slatwall.

Installation

Because of the significant weight differences, HandiWALL® is much easier and quicker to install. Generally speaking, installing standard MDF requires two people, whereas installing HandiWALL® only requires one person. This drastically reduces the amount of man-hours to complete an installation which in turn reduces the overall cost of a build-out or renovation.

Length of Service Life

HandiWALL® offers a much longer service life than standard MDF slatwall. Standard MDF slatwall is generally made of fiberboard, a material that is known to be unreliable over time. HandiWALL® is made entirely out of cellular PVC which retains its structural form over time and will not chip or break like MDF is known to do. This creates savings in that HandiWALL® panels do not need to be replaced nearly as often, if ever, compared to MDF slatwall which notoriously chips, scratches, warps, and disintegrates.

Aesthetics

Retaining the Brand-New Look

HandiWALL® PVC slatwall system is colored throughout, meaning it will never show scratches. MDF slatwall, on the other hand, will always show the slightest imperfection as it only has a thin layer of coloring on the outside of the product. In addition to not showing scratches, HandiWALL® can be cleaned and maintained simply by wiping it down with a damp cloth.

Immune to Water Damage

It is well known that standard MDF slatwall cannot be used outside or in high humidity and must be kept dry at all times, otherwise the product will deteriorate and warp. HandiWALL® is impervious to water damage and can be used for both interior and exterior installations.

Structural Strength

HandiWALL® is 50% stronger than standard MDF slatwall which allows users to hang more weight from hooks and store heavier items on shelves. When used with the HandiSOLUTIONS® accessories, HandiWALL® can hold 100 lbs per hook.
